

FUNKy Frogs Job Assignment

MINI BULLETIN BOARD RESOURCE GUIDE

Putting It TOGETHER

- Laminate the FUNky Frogs Job Assignment Mini Bulletin Board for durability.
- The FUNky Frogs Job Assignment Mini Bulletin Board can be displayed on a bulletin board or at centers around the classroom.
- Use copies of the frog and blank lily pad patterns (page 4) for fun curriculum activities.

Classroom Management

Job Responsibility Display the FUNky Frogs Job Assignment Mini Bulletin Board. Program the frog accents with students' names. Write classroom job titles on the blank lily pad pieces. Randomly assign classroom jobs and display each student's frog next to an assigned job. When a student does not have a job, the frog can be placed to the side.

Hoppy Helper Behavior Use the FUNky Frogs Job Assignment Mini Bulletin Board as a helpful reminder of positive behavior characteristics. Ask each student to write a word or phrase that is an example of good behavior on the frog pattern (page 4). Some examples may include: good manners, friendliness, trustworthiness, and helpfulness. Have each student write a sentence or draw a picture that illustrates the word or phrase written on her frog. Display the completed sentences and pictures around the FUNky Frogs Job Assignment header.

Leap into Centers Use the FUNky Frogs Job Assignment Mini Bulletin Board for center assignments. Write the names of centers on the blank lily pad pieces and display them on a wall or bulletin board. Write students' names on the frog accents or copies of the frog pattern (page 4). Choose which students will go to each center. Place the frogs around the appropriate centers. Reprogram names when it is time to reassign centers.

Toad-ally Great Group Behavior Arrange students' desks in groups of four or five, and allow them to choose names for their groups. Write the names of the groups on the lily pad pieces or copies of the lily pad pattern (page 4). When a group demonstrates good behavior, place a frog accent or a copy of the frog pattern (page 4) near its group name. When a group reaches a predetermined number of frogs, reward those students with special treats such as homework passes or frog stickers.

Language Arts

Super Spellers Encourage students to study spelling words using the FUNky Frogs Job Assignment Mini Bulletin Board. Post spelling words on copies of the blank lily pad pieces or copies of the lily pad pattern (page 4). If students have trouble spelling certain words correctly, write spelling tips on frog accents or on copies of the frog pattern (page 4), and post near the appropriate spelling word. For example, if students have trouble spelling receive, write i before e except after c on a frog and post near the spelling word receive.

Math

More Than One Way Use the FUNky Frogs Job Assignment Mini Bulletin Board to help students discover multiple ways to find an answer. Write a number on each lily pad piece. Then, write addition, subtraction, multiplication, or division problems on the frog accents. Place the lily pad pieces and the frogs at a math center, and encourage students to match the problems to the answers on the frogs.

Social Studies

Community Jobs As a class, compile a list of community workers such as teachers or police officers. Write the names of the community workers on the lily pad pieces or copies of the lily pad pattern (page 4), and display them on a wall or bulletin board. Supply students with frog accents or copies of the frog pattern (page 4). Encourage students to think of tasks associated with each profession. Have them write tasks on the frogs. For example, Police officers patrol the streets. Display the frogs around the appropriate professions.
